CIRCUIT COURT.

Fall Term Convenes Next Monday For Long Session.

Several Murder Cases to be Tried And Forty-Five Divorce Suits On Docket.

Friday was the last day for filing suits for the fall term of Circuit court, which convenes next Monday for a six weeks' session. Since our last report, 9 divorce suits have been lodged with the Circuit Clerk, as follows: James Johnson vs. Susan Johnson, Robert Lewis vs. Myra Lewis, W. H. Tandy vs. Georgia Tandy, Lucy Hall vs. Henry Hall, John Carter vs. Lucy M. Carter, John Hendrix vs. Annie L. Hendrix, James Leavell vs. Emma J. Leavell, Mary L. Dade vs. Henry Dade and Maria Gynn vs. Peter Gynn.

Louis A. McReynolds has brought suit against the town of Crofton for $2,000 damages. McReynolds alleges in his petition that on August 25 last, as he was passing through the town with his wagon and team, the saddle mule broke through a culvert and fell, throwing him to the ground, and that he sustaining injuries that resulted in permanently disabling him.

Mr. J. F. Garnett, administrator of John Rickman, col., has brought suit against the L. & N. for $15,000 damages. Rickman was killed by a train near the Bradshaw road crossing April 20 last, and the petition states that defendant failed to warn the negro of his danger, either by sounding the whistle or ringing the bell.

Dr. L. J. Harris, acting for his daughter Miss Flora Harris, according to the petition, was visiting in Earlington last February and had occasion to cross defendant's track. A train was approaching at a high rate of speed and when she cleared one track she stepped on another only to find another train coming towards her. She was much frightened and fell in a faint, but was rescued by a party who saw her perilous position. As a result of her fright it is claimed that her nervous system was completely shocked and that she has ever since been under the care of physicians.

Charles E. West, Jr., sues James Bass, col. for $10,000 damages. Alleging the negro willfully shot and wounded him in the shoulder on the night of Sept. 3. Bass, it is understood, had been greatly annoyed by boys going into his melon patch and claimed he was protecting his property. It is claimed on the other hand that the young man shot was not on Bass' premises.

There are about 500 cases on the docket, including commonwealth matters. Of this number 106 are appearances, made up as follows: equity, 72; common law, 33. Of the 72 equity causes 45 are divorce proceedings. There are about 150 Commonwealth cases.

The case of Malcolm Carothers, under indictment for murder, is set for the 3rd day of the term. The cases of the Commonwealth against C. J. and J. P. Miller, charged with counterfeiting, are also set for the third day. The Grand Jurors murder case will be called on the 4th day of the term.

The case of Jim Will Anderson and others, charged with the murder of Officer Coffey near Empire, a year ago, is set for the 19th day of the term.

PROTRACTED MEETING

Began Sunday Night at Highland Chapel.

A protracted meeting was begun at Highland Chapel Sunday night, by Rev. W. L. Payton. This chapel is a mission of the Hopkinsville Baptist church and quite a number of the local singers and helpers are attending. Some interest has already been manifested. Mr. Bailey Waller has charge of the singing.

FORGERY CHARGE.

Well Known Insurance Man Wanted in Indiana.

Did Considerable Business Around Pembroke Several Years Ago.

John Selby, who formerly solicited life insurance in this county, is in trouble at Vincennes, Ind.

Selby has been acting as agent for the New York Life Insurance Company at Vincennes, and also owns a saloon in that place. He went to Indiana from Owensboro two years ago. He is charged with forgery.

It is alleged that two years ago Selby wrote a life insurance policy for a farmer named Veike, who makes the charges against him, and that the latter gave him note as a payment on the premium. It is alleged that from the signature Selby made the forgery. He is said to be an expert with the pen, and those who have seen the signature say it is a perfect one.

Selby's mother-in-law furnished bond and he was released. Another note sold by Selby alleged to have been a forgery, turned up and now the police are searching for him with another warrant.

The police say quite a number of forged notes are extant, and a number of prominent business men are the victims.

Certain wealthy individuals, it is said, hold enough notes to aggregate $10,000. One party is said to carry worthless paper for $3,000, one $2,000 and a third for $1,000.

DEATH OF MINISTER

Aged Citizen of Fairview Neighborhood Passes Away.

Rev. Paul H. Salmon, perhaps the oldest man in Todd county, died at his home near Fairview.

He was 88 years old, and was ordained as a minister of the Methodist Church more than half a century ago.

He was a native of South Carolina and his wife was a Miss Jefferson, of Virginia. The latter was a direct descendant of Thomas Jefferson. She passed away several years ago.

Rev. Salmon was once a merchant at Elton, but for many years he had been living near Fairview, where he owned a fine farm.

ANOTHER BURGLARY.

This Time Crofton Has a Business House Entered.

Crofton, Ky., Sept. 15.—The saloon of Reed Renshaw in this place was burglarized last night about 11 or 12 o'clock. The thieves entered the room from the back door and blew open the safe, a small one, with dynamite. Nothing was found in the safe and the thieves helped themselves to 18 bottles of beer, some bottled whisky and several cans of oysters. The explosion was heard by several parties but no investigation was made until this morning. There is no clue.

Tobacco in low lands was considerably damaged by the light frosts of Friday and Saturday night, and much of it is being cut green.

BOLD THIEF

Grabs Bag of Money and Makes His Escape.

An old gentleman who conducts a grocery on Vine street in the Mayes building was robbed of about $8 Saturday night. A negro man stepped into the store and asked for change for a quarter. When the proprietor produced a shot bag of dimes, nickels and coppers the negro grabbed the bag and ran. The thief was unknown to the grocer, but is described as being a large man, wearing a gum coat.

VOTING CONTEST

The Most Popular Lady In Christian County to Be Determined By Ballot.

Beginning Friday, August 29th, a voting contest will be held to determine by popular vote the most popular lady in Christian County. To the lady receiving the highest number of votes, we will present a prize not yet determined upon finally, but which will be worth not less than $100. The contest will close at 12 o'clock, noon, Monday, Dec. 29, 1902. The plan will be as follows:

Every subscriber to the Kentuckian who pays back dues or cash in advance will be entitled to cast one vote for each five cents paid. That is to say, a subscriber who pays $2.00 will have 40 votes, one who pays $1.00 will have 20 votes and so on for any amount large or small. In every paper published after August 29th there will be a coupon and these coupons when cut out and brought or sent to the office will represent each one vote.

A new subscriber who pays $2.00 August 29th and saves his coupons from the 35 papers before December 29th will have in all 75 votes to cast for his choice. He will also have the privilege of gathering up coupons clipped by his friends from their papers and voting them one at a time, or by the hundred if he prefers. He will also have the privilege of buying papers at the office at five cents each and voting the coupons cut from them, as every paper after August 29th will contain a coupon.

Full details of the prize to be awarded will be given in an early issue. In the meantime the contest may begin with the guaranteed assurance from us that the prize will be worth $100 or more.

The coupon ballots will be deposited in a ballot box with two keys. One of these keys will be held by County Judge W. T. Fowler and the other by Mayor Jouett Henry. The box will be opened not oftener than once a week, all ballots then in it taken out, counted and certified to, sealed up in an envelope and replaced in the ballot box. The envelope will contain a statement of the votes in it, so that its contents will not need to be counted again until the official count at the close of the contest.

The last week of the contest the ballots may be deposited without showing them, so that the close of the contest may be secret and exciting to the end.

Further explanations will be given from time to time. The voting will begin at 7 o'clock a. m. next Friday. Who will start the ball to rolling?

Croup

Usually begins with the symptoms of a common cold; there is chilliness, sneezing, sore throat, hot skin, quick pulse, hoarseness and impeded respiration. Give frequent small doses of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, (the child will cry for it) and at the first sign of a croupy cough, apply frequently Ballard's Snow Inhalant externally to the throat. 50c at R. Devoured by Worms.

Children often cry, not from pain, but from hunger, although fed abundantly. The entire trouble arises from inanition, their food is not assimilated, but devoured by worms. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will cause them to cease crying and begin to thrive at once, very much the surprise and joy of the mother. 25c at R. C. Hardwick's.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Clay Street School.

Truly is September a beginning of new things and a revival of the old. In this she may be said to begin a new year, for the world wakes up from its long summer rest, to begin, in earnest, a preparation for the needs of the coming seasons. All nature puts forth her best efforts; the commercial and business world awakens to new strength and new possibilities.

The streets are made merry by the patter of little feet and the hum of voices sweet of those who begin their journey in school life. They are expecting great things, and what a privilege to be the one to help the little strangers over the threshold and point the way to the new and wonderful.

One dear little tot found the paths of learning very bewildering the other day. Her teacher asked her name. "I don't know," was the pathetic reply. "Is it Mary?" "No, Ma'am." "Well, isn't it Sarah?" "No, it isn't that either."

A bright little boy, whose brain will one day solve new problems for the new century, said, as he moulded wonderful things from the plastic clay with his tiny fingers, "I know now why they call this the Clay building."

We breathe a prayer that the little hands may always find beautiful and honest work, that the bright eyes may see only that that is pure, that the little hearts may beat as high and as joyous as they do in these first school days.

These thoughts bring to memory the tender sentiments of our dear Eugene Field in "Long Ago."

"I'd wish to be a boy again,
Back with the friends I used to know,
For I was oh so happy then—
But that was very long ago."

Virginia Street School.

The year has opened very auspiciously for the Virginia Street School.

During the summer the yard was graded and the walks were laid out and by next year a beautiful yard will add much to the attractiveness of the new building.

All of the eight rooms are being used, as the board elected a teacher for the room which was vacant last year. The enrollment on September 10th was 320 pupils in the school, giving an average of 40 pupils to each room.

It was with pleasure that the corps of teachers welcomed their principal, Mrs. Rosa M. Bramham, who returns in such good health from her summer vacation, and with her enthusiasm inspiring all associated with her for best efforts for the coming year's work.

Healthful exercise is necessary to the complete education of the pupils and our superintendent, who shows a hearty endorsement of progressive measures, has, with the teachers, encouraged the students in arranging for regular practice of outdoor games. The boys of the 7th and 8th grades have organized a baseball nine, and the girls of the same grades will occupy their recreation time with basket-ball.

This will serve as an incentive to regular attendance and good work, besides holding the pupils together and encouraging a spirit of pride for the school.

The subject of a gymnasium is being agitated, and it is to be hoped that in the near future this attractive feature may be added to the equipment of the building.

We enter upon a new school year with most flattering prospects for a pleasant and profitable year's work.

Protest Against the Slugging
Match in Louisville.

Indications That the Sports Have Nothing to Fear From Beckham.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 12.—A mass meeting of citizens, which filled Music Hall, was held last night to protest against the Corbett-McGovern contest. The meeting was presided over by Helm Bruce, who, with Frank Hartwell, former Judge Alex. P. Humphreys and Rev. Charles Well Craik, made addresses. A committee, headed by Col. Bennett H. Young, reported resolutions, which were adopted, calling upon the Governor, Attorney General, Mayor, Sheriff, police and constables, to invoke the law to prevent the contest, and pledging the assistance of the meeting with money and guns, if necessary, to prevent the contest. Copies of the resolutions were ordered sent to the various officials named.

Despite the action taken at the meeting, it seems clear that the contest is not to be prevented unless an injunction is sued out by some of the citizens. It is well understood that Mayor Grainger will take no action, and it has been stated upon reliable authority that Gov. Beckham will not interfere.

SPORTS ON TOP.

Governor and Mayor Talk It Over
And Ignore Petitions.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 13.—Gov. Beckham and Mayor Grainger held a consultation here this afternoon. The proposed match between young Corbett and Terry McGovern was discussed. After the meeting Mayor Grainger said: "I have nothing to say except that the law will not be violated." The general opinion is the fight will not be interfered with. They hold that prize-fighting is not contrary to law.

THE WISE MERCHANT.

Does Not Sell You an Article That You Do Not Want.

"When I was a young fellow, making my first essay as a retail salesman," said a successful Broadway business man, to a New York Herald reporter, "the proprietor of the store used to give me a good deal of good advice, and some that wasn't so good. But it was all kindly meant, and I took it, using my own judgment as to how much of some of it I could do better without. One of his studies was: 'Any kind of a clerk can sell goods to a customer when he wants them; it is only a skilled clerk who can sell a customer what he doesn't want.' Now that looks all right in theory and a good many business men still hold that it is sound, and instruct their clerks to follow it.

"But I do not, nor do I think it is good business. Of course, if a clerk can sell a customer something for two dollars, say, when the customer wanted something in the same line for a dollar and a half, that shows the clerk to have the proper qualifications, provided the customer finds the two dollar grade so much better than the cheaper that he is more than satisfied, as he will be in the majority of instances.

"But take it the other way. A customer wants a hat or a piece of goods or a certain kind of shoes, or something else in which his personal taste and feeling are paramount. The clerk can't show just what is wanted, though he may know that it can be had somewhere, and he proceeds to prove to the customer that the goods the clerk can show are the latest in style and are popular and all that, and finally persuades the customer to buy what he didn't want. If his master's sale all right and has shown his skill thus far, but what of the customer? When he gets the article home and puts it on he doesn't like it any more than he did when he had his mind set on what he did like, and, in addition, he doesn't like the clerk for persuading him to get something he didn't want, and he doesn't like the house that employs such a clerk, and the result is that possibly a very good and permanent customer is lost for the sake of a single sale of two or three or five dollars.

"No, sire, I don't have it in my place. I instruct my clerks first of all, to please a customer. If he can't be pleased any other way than by sending him off to some other concern that does have what he wants, he is sent there, and he is told where he can have (if he likes) the chance to find what he wants. If he is satisfied there, he doesn't forget the courtesy my clerk extended to him when he was in need, and all the chances are that I will get a lot more of his future trade than the man does to whom my clerk sent him.

"I never try to instruct my customers in what they want unless they show plainly that they do not know, or are so undecided that my knowledge is of value to them and they appreciate the advice I may be able to give."

ORIGIN OF ONION'S SAOR.

Sulphur Gives It Its Character and Medicinal Qualities.

It is sulphur that gives the onion its germ-killing property and makes the bulb so very useful as a medicinal agent at all times, but especially in the spring, which used to be, and still is in many places, the season for taking the brimstone and trace in old-fashioned houses before sulphur tablets came into vogue. Now, sulphur, when united to hydrogen—one of the gases of water—forms sulphuretted hydrogen, and then becomes a foul-smelling compound. The onion, being so juicy, has a very large percentage of water in its tissues, and this, combining with the sulphur, forms the strongly scented and offensive substance called sulphuretted allyle, which is found in all alliums. This sulphuretted allyle mingles more especially with the volatile or aromatic oil of the onion. It is identical with the muleolator principle found in asafetida, which is the symbol of almost all smells that are nasty.

The horse man—so much liked with roast beef for its keen and biting property—and the ordinary mustard of our tables, both owe their strongly stimulative properties to this same sulphuretted allyle, which gives them heat and acridity, but not an offensive smell, owing to the different arrangements of the atoms of their volatile oils.—Anaconda Standard.

"Watch Us Grow."

WHY? BECAUSE

The Consolidated Alpine in 90 days will be on a self-sustaining basis, the last stage before entering the dividend list.

The Consolidated Alpine is actively developing a mineral estate of 25 lode claims, or 130 acres in rich Clear Creek County, the oldest and best proven district in the state of Colorado.

The Consolidated Alpine veins are true fissures between well defined granite walls, assuring permanency of the rich mineral deposits.

The Consolidated Alpine values on the surface and at the bottom of shaft where vein is 8 ft. wide, proves that with depth the ore body gets richer, as will as larger.

Alpine Located in Center of a Great Gold Field—Dr. W. H. Gilbert tells of a Recent Visit to the Property in Which so Many People Have a Financial Interest.

Dr. W. H. Gilbert has returned from a trip through the West where he inspected the property of the Consolidated Alpine Gold & Silver Mining Co. Dr. Gilbert is one of the heavy stockholders in the company. When seen by a Journal News representative and asked as to the prospects of the company, Dr. Gilbert said:

"You are asking a question asked by a great many people in Evansville and the surrounding country. The Consolidated Alpine gold and silver mine is located on Alps mountain in the famous Clear Creek district in the great gold producing state of Colorado. We are midway between Georgetown and Idaho Springs. People who have made the long trip on the Colorado Southern railroad, pass by our mine. In our immediate neighborhood are some of the greatest gold mines in the world, among which may be mentioned the Lamarite Prospect, Portland Extension, American Sisters, Gum Tree, Mattie Fraction, New Tom, Lottie, Ouida, Bruce, Wallace, Stanley, Lord Byron, Bonalden, and a score of others whose production runs up into the hundreds of thousands.

"The Alpine tract is located directly in the midst of these valuable properties. Since we acquired the property, extensive improvements have taken place. The old shaft house destroyed by fire just before we assumed charge has been replaced by a modern substantial building, a boarding and bunk house for the miners, and an ore house for the storing and sorting of ore received. A plant of machinery capable of giving a depth of a thousand feet with ease in constant operation, and during my visit there we purchased and it is now being installed, a six drill double steam actuated Sargent air compressor of the latest model. We also installed two of Leavitt's latest water model rock drills. These ingenious machines require less air and as a consequence less fuel for consumption, and through the center of the steel drill a small stream of water is constantly flowing into the drill hole, and as a consequence there is absolutely no dust in the mine. The lives of men operating these machines are prolonged, and during the hours they work the air is not heavily laden with fine particles of dust.

"It is a wonderful sight to see one of these monsters eating its way into the solid granite. There is a sort of fascination about watching them, they seem to be almost human and remind one of some strong jawed giant in a giant mood. With compressed air as a motive power, driving our machine drills we will be able to break about 150 feet of ground a month, where by hand we are now breaking about thirty feet through solid granite, which implies the work of the year.

"The showing in the mine is fine, better than we could expect for the small amount of depth attained. We are now about 300 feet and the vein shows and the value of the ore is richer at that depth than at any previous level.

"In the third next level we have about thirty feet to go before we reach a vein which shows the Alpine vein and which has yielded the body of the ore in the second level, and from which the original ore contained 3000 ounces of silver. Had from that ore level, would have been in the neighborhood of $100,000.

"The famous Lamarite mine which adjoins ours, at the same depth did not have good showing as we have at the present time, and therefore we are confident of one day, by the 1000-foot level, we will have a showing as good as we have at the present time, and that with depth we would have up a Lamarite No. 2. This is the main in the north shift of the Alpine vein, and the vein in the Lamarite mine, as we have a greater depth than the Lamarite mine, and back up his assay, is by the way the stock he possibly can and has his monthly wages paid up for the next four months including Alpine stock.

"The Alpine has been in the hands of the Consolidated Alpine since we acquired it, and we are confident that we will develop the property. The company is in good shape financially and the property is a valuable asset in the hands of the Consolidated Alpine and has been opened up to insure a steady production in dividends to the holders."
